VOLUME 3. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, JUNE 25, 1912. No. 19.

OTHER CONVENTIONS

PRESENT IS TWENTY-FIRST OF DEMOCRATIC CONCLAVES.

PARTY IS 108 YEARS OLD

Six Conventions Have Been Held in Baltimore—Jackson First Nominee at Baltimore.

The National Democratic convention which assembled at Baltimore today was the twenty-first event of the kind during the 108 years the party has been in existence, the first six conventions being held in Baltimore. It is regarded as most propitious for Democracy, as five of these conventions nominated candidates that were elected, the exception being in 1848, when Taylor and Fillmore, the Whig ticket, defeated the Democratic nominees. The seventh convention that met at Baltimore nominated Stephen A. Douglass in 1860, and he was defeated by Abraham Lincoln. The convention which met today was the ninth held at Baltimore.

The Democrats first met at Baltimore in 1832, when Jackson and Van Buren were nominated; the second, in May, 1836, nominated Van Buren and R. M. Johnson. Thirty-two states were represented by 600 delegates. This convention was in session three days. The third, May 5 and 6, 1840, re-nominated Van Buren, but made no nomination for vice president, leaving that office to be filled by the senate.

The fourth, May 27-29, 1844, nominated Polk and Dallas. In this convention Van Buren received 146 votes. A resolution was offered declaring him the nominee, but a point of order was made and sustained that this would require a two-thirds vote. An appeal was taken, but after a spirited debate it was withdrawn. On a subsequent ballot, the ninth, a stampede for Polk was made and he was nominated. He was the first "dark horse" of any national convention.

The fifth convention was held May 22-26, 1848, the nominee being Lewis Cass, the first western candidate, and W. O. Butler of Kentucky. The ticket was defeated by Taylor and Fillmore, the Whig candidates. The sixth convention was held June 1-4, 1852, and nominated Pierce and King. Pierce was nominated on a stampede during the forty-ninth ballot.

In 1856 the Democratic party for the first time in its history went west for its convention, meeting in Cincinnati, June 2 to 6. Buchanan and Breckenridge were nominated. Buchanan received the full vote of the convention on the seventeenth ballot. He had received votes in the three previous conventions. In this convention Stephen A. Douglas was first supported for the nomination, receiving thirty-three votes.

The eighth convention, the most memorable in the history of the party, met in Charleston, S. C., on April 23, 1860, and remained in session until May 3. Before it adjourned the delegates from Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and Texas and a part of the delegations from South Carolina, Arkansas and Delaware withdrew. The entire delegation from Georgia withdrew the next day, May 1. On May 2 the remaining delegates balloted for a candidate, without result, Douglas leading with 151 votes. The convention adjourned on May 3 to meet in Baltimore, June 18.

When the convention reassembled, several southern delegations again withdrew. Douglas was declared the nominee. Benjamin Fitzpatrick of Alabama was nominated for vice president, but he declined and Herschel V. Johnson of Mississippi was named. The seceders met in Charleston, S. C., and nominated Breckenridge and Lane. Twenty-one states were represented in whole or in part in this convention. Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, South Carolina, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin were unrepresented.

The ninth Democratic convention was held in Chicago in 1864, McClelland and Pendleton being the ticket. The tenth convention was held in New York, Seymour and Blair being the nominees. The eleventh convention was held in Baltimore and Greeley and Brown were the nominees. The twelfth convention was held in St. Louis, Tilden and Hendricks the ticket. The thirteenth convention was held at Cincinnati in 1880, and nominated Hancock and English. The fourteenth convention met at Chicago in 1884 and named Cleveland and Hendricks. The fifteenth convention met in St. Louis in 1888 and re-nominated Cleveland, Allen G. Thurman being his running mate, the ticket being defeated. The sixteenth convention held in Cleveland in 1892 again nominated Cleveland, with Stevenson as vice president. The seventeenth convention was held in Chicago in 1896, Bryan and Sewall being the nominees. The eighteenth convention met in Kansas City in 1900, Bryan again being the head of the ticket with Adlai Stevenson in second place. Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis were the nominees at St. Louis, and Bryan and Kern in 1908. Who the nominee of the twenty-first convention will be is a matter for the future to determine.

BRYAN LOSES HIS FIGHT ON THE CHAIRMANSHIP

Kern of Indiana, Named as Bryan's Choice, Withdraws in Favor of Great Commoner

Bryan's Appearance and Speeches are Occasions for Wild Applause--the Galleries are With Parker--Overtures for Harmony Failed

PARKER WON.

Judge Alton B. Parker was elected temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention over W. J. Bryan by a vote of 579 for Parker to 506 for Bryan.

Owing to the great disorder in the hall the convention could not proceed and adjourned until 8 o'clock tonight, when Judge Parker will make his address to the convention.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Baltimore, Md., June 25.—The Democratic national convention was called to order at 12:10 o'clock today by Chairman Norman E. Mack of the national committee. The galleries were half filled and there were a number of empty chairs in sections reserved for delegates.

Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore immediately followed Chairman Mack with prayer. After prayer there were persistent calls for William Jennings Bryan. Bryan and Judge Parker occupied seats together on the speakers' platform.

At 12:55 p. m. W. J. Bryan took the floor to name a temporary chairman. He received quite an ovation, and the wild demonstration lasted five minutes. He presented the name of Senator John W. Kern of Indiana for temporary chairman of the convention. The national committee selected Judge Parker of New York as temporary chairman, and his name was presented to the convention in addition to the name of Kern.

In presenting the name of Kern to the convention, Mr. Bryan made a stinging speech, attacking the national committee for the selection of Judge Parker as temporary chairman. Mr. Bryan insisted that he has acted in the interest of harmony and that the committee was requested to recognize the wishes of two-thirds of the delegates. He defied the national committee and intimates he will refuse to abide by any reactionary platform.

Mr. Bryan further said that the interests that made the Republican convention a farce are at work in this convention at Baltimore. Mr. Bryan defied them, saying that Belmont of New York can't buy the party. This was met with wild cheering from the galleries.

As Mr. Bryan excoriated Belmont and Parker the people in the galleries kept up a persistent cry for Parker, and the sentiment of the audience seemed to be for Parker.

Mr. Bryan concluded his speech at 1:30 o'clock with an impassioned appeal made for the party to be made progressive.

Kern Makes Effort for Harmony.

Senator John W. Kern of Indiana followed W. J. Bryan, and asked Judge Parker of New York from the stand to join with him in agreeing to the selection of either Senator O'Gorman of New York, Senator Culberson of Texas, Mr. Clayton of Alabama, Mr. Preston of Tennessee, Mr. Snively of Indiana or Ex-Governor Folk of Missouri as temporary chairman in an effort to restore harmony.

Judge Parker refuses to respond to the proposition of Kern, but remains in his seat in New York delegation.

Kern Withdraws His Name.

Senator Kern withdraws his name for temporary chairman and nominates W. J. Bryan. The convention received Bryan's name with cheers, and the convention was in wild turmoil as Bryan attempts to speak.

Bryan Accepts.

Mr. Bryan announces acceptance of progressive leadership as a candidate for temporary chairman.

Bell of California concluded his speech seconding the nomination of Parker, and was followed by Congressman Fitzgerald of Brooklyn to second Parker.

Convention in Tumult.

The convention was in a wild tumult, and sergeant-at-arms threatens to clear galleries. Company of police marched into hall to preserve order.

Bryan Takes Stand.

Mr. Bryan took stand in an effort to secure quiet and received wild demonstration. The police are removing delegates and visitors raising disturbances.

Roll Call Ordered.

Chairman Mack ordered a roll call on temporary chairman, meeting with an objection from Mr. Bryan to ruling of Chairman Mack closing nominating and seconding speeches.

Arouses Big Demonstration.

Mr. Johnson of Texas aroused a big Bryan demonstration when he declared the fight is on, and Bryan is on one side and Wall street on the other.

ATHLETICS BEAT "JEW" WILSON

And Take Lead in Normal League—Ham Pitches Some Game for the Victors.

Standing of the Teams.

	Won.	Lost.	Pr.ct
Athletics	3	2	.600
Giants	2	2	.500
Pirates	2	2	.500
Cubs	2	3	.400

"Dough" Miller's Athletics took the lead in the Normal league Monday afternoon when they easily beat the Cubs 5 to 1. Jew Wilson, who did the tossing for the losers, had an off day and the "Macks" pounded him for six safeties, which ,mixed with some slow fielding, netted the victors their five tallies. However, the Jew fooled eight of the enemy on strikes.

Ham, the lanky Athletic twirler, was all to the good yesterday. He allowed but two safeties and fanned eleven of the opposition. He also aided in the run getting with two clean singles.

Hanna, the Athletic left fielder, certainly has a most unique batting record. That "lugger" has struck out the last thirteen times at bat, and the fans even assert that he hasn't even fouled one in that many attempts. Thirteen being a lucky number, the writer looks for Hanna to get a hit in the very next game the Athletics play.

Wednesday afternoon the Pirates and the Giants will fight it out to see who shall share the basement with the Cubs and who shall help the Athletics hold down the top round.

FOR MISSOURI'S SCHOOLS.

The Missouri public schools of all grades, the state normal schools and the state university are all interested in a proposed constitutional amendment to levy a special tax of ten cents on the hundred dollars of assessed valuation, the revenue to be for their continuous support.

The proposition is one of the most important in the educational history of the state. At the general election of 1910 the people refused an amendment providing a smaller similar levy for the maintenance of the university alone. The failure of that amendment was partly owing to the overshadowing interest in the prohibition question, and was due partly to a feeling that the common grade schools should not be neglected in favor of the greater school.

There is no reason for the friction now. All the schools, from the top to the bottom of Missouri's educational system, would share in the proceeds of the tax.

And surely a large majority of the voters of Missouri wish to place their school system on a secure basis, permitting progress commensurate with the development of the state in population and in wealth.—Kansas City Star.

T. R. WAS OFFERED THE NOMINATION

Story of Proposition Made by Southern Delegates.

TELLS OF CONVENTION SECRET

Plan Was to Seize Control at Last Moment—Refused to Accept on Terms Offered—New Party From Ground Up.

Cleveland, O., June 25.—The Republican nomination for president, Col. Roosevelt asserted here, was his for the asking on the day that President Taft was renominated. He declined to accept it, he said, on the terms under which the offer was made.

On his way back to Oyster Bay the ex-president gave a glimpse into the secret history of the last day of the convention, when he says it was a plan to seize control at the last moment by a sudden move, overturn the Taft majority and make Roosevelt the nominee. This is the story as he told it:

Southern Delegates Called.

Early Saturday morning a group of delegates from Southern states arranged a private interview with Col. Roosevelt. They told him they had come to offer him the nomination. They had with them a list of the known Roosevelt delegates, and stated that they were authorized to speak for a block of Taft delegates who were willing to swing over to Roosevelt to avert a rupture in the party. The number of these delegates, they assured Col. Roosevelt, was large enough to nominate him or any other candidate he might name.

One provision was made, Col. Roosevelt continued. It was that he must accept the nomination from the convention as composed, and not insist upon removal of the 78 delegates who, he contended, were fraudulent, before he would recognize any act of the convention.

Refused the Offer.

Col. Roosevelt said he informed these emissaries that if he should be nominated under these conditions he would not accept the nomination. He told them to go to the delegates they represented and bring back to him a pledge signed by 30 delegates, agreeing to combine with the Roosevelt delegates and make the attempt to start all over again to organize the convention and to unseat the 78 contested delegates. The attempt failed. Col. Roosevelt said a considerable number of signatures to the pledge were obtained, but that it had proved impossible to hold a sufficiently large part of the delegates in line for the course of action upon which he insisted to give it the chance of success.

A new party from the ground up is the Roosevelt program. After a series of discussions with his lieutenants before leaving Chicago, in which there were several sharp clashes, Col. Roosevelt decided to cut entirely away from the party with which his whole public career has been identified.

STRIKERS AGAIN FIRED UPON

Trouble at Tube Mills in New York Renewed—Workmen Were Unarmed When Guards Shot.

Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., June 25.—One man is dying and five other persons, including a woman and a boy, lie severely injured in the Dobbs Ferry hospital, victims of renewed hostilities in the strike declared about ten days ago at the plant of the National Conduit & Cable company. The trouble took place after the company announced that it would take back those of the men who wished to resume work at the old wage scale. About 600 accepted the offer and took their places. In the afternoon on their return from lunch they were attacked by a mob. In the guard at the stockade are 50 armed deputies. They fired on the mob, which was driven off. None of the mob members was armed.

Millers Fight Railroads.

Joplin, Mo., June 25—J. Edgar Smith of Washington, special examiner for the interstate commerce commission, listened to evidence brought by the Southwest Missouri Millers' club against the St. Louis & San Francisco, the Missouri Pacific, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroads. The contention was that the railroads have not been supplying adequate transportation facilities to the shippers of grain. The hearing was conducted in the federal court rooms.

English Suffragette Released.

London, June 25.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragist leader, was released from Holloway jail, owing to a break down of health as a result of the hunger strike instituted by her and her imprisoned followers recently began.

Pig Iron Rate Suspended.

Washington, June 25.—An increase of approximately $1.08 a ton on pig iron from Duluth, Minn., and other points to Kansas City and other Middle Western destinations was suspended by the interstate commerce commission until October 29.

ALL PEACE MOVES ARE UNAVAILING

Baltimore Now Certain to See Repetition of Chicago Fight.

PARKER CHOSEN AS CHAIRMAN

Bryan Will Carry Fight to Floor of Convention—Seven Presidential Candidates Already in the Field.

Baltimore, June 25.—It will be a fight between progressives and conservatives in the convention. That much is settled.

The national committee by a vote of 31 to 22 confirmed the sub-committee's selection of Alton B. Parker for temporary chairman. That was the standpat reply to Bryan.

Bryan at once came back with a statement that had weight in every line. He will try to get a Progressive candidate to oppose Parker, but failing in that, will himself become a candidate.

The Clark influence is expected to line up with Parker as the result of a deal with Murphy and Tammany for throwing New York's 90 votes to the speaker.

Bryan Not Surprised.

Mr. Bryan isued this statement after the committee had named Parker as temporary chairman:

"I had expected it. When Mr. Guffey was seated against the protest of the Democrats of Pennsylvania, I learned what I had expected, that a majority of that committee either had no conception of Democracy or was so slavishly under the control of the predatory interests as not to be free to follow their convictions.

"The predatory interests have no politics. They are with the party that serves them. Having enabled a minority of the Republicans to override the will of a majority of Republicans at Chicago, they are now here to enable a minority of the Democrats to overside the majority in this convention.

Harmony Talk Absurd.

"The talk of harmony is too absurd to deserve consideration. I tried to secure harmony by urging several weeks ago that the committee invite Mr. Clark and Mr. Wilson—whose instructed delegates constitute nearly two-thirds of the convention—to agree upon a candidate for the purpose of avoiding friction. They not only failed to do this, but they refused to take the choice of either candidate and, at Mr. Murphy's dictation, forced Mr. Parker's nomination."

The Nebraskan, three times the candidate of his party for the presidency, stood out all day as the dominant figure in the convention. All contingencies of the future, including the nomination of a presidential candidate, seemed to hinge upon what he should do. The impression continued to be more marked that Mr. Bryan might himself be the ultimate presidential nominee. Some of his friends declared that he would be voted for in the convention whether formally placed in nomination or not, and they expressed the belief he would win if the voting should go to a fourth or fifth ballot.

Bryan and Wilson.

If furtherance of their hope of nominating Mr. Bryan, some of his friends, it is said, are bending their energies to prevent a coalition of the Clark and Wilson forces. They are talkink of Bryan and Wilson as a possible ticket, and the suggestion is receiving attention in many quarters.

That the national committee felt the potency of Mr. Bryan's influence became apparent early in the afternoon when a recess was taken to permit a "peace committee" to call upon him. The first move of this committee, composed of National Chairman Norman E. Mack and Vice-Chairman Hall brought Judge Parker and Mr. Bryan together at a conference. It was said that Judge Parker went over many of the points of his "keynote" speech with Mr. Bryan in the hope of convincing him of the progressive note that it would strike.

The effort was unavailing, Mr. Bryan soon left the conference, held at the national committee headquarters, asserting that while the interview was "most pleasant, indeed," he had failed to change his attitude in any way whatever.

A moment after Mr. Bryan had disappeared, Chairman Mack, Judge Parker and Vice-Chairman Hall emerged and announced that the committee would go ahead and approve the selection of Judge Parker, let the fight come as it would.

The convention will get under way with seven avowed presidential candidates in the field, no one of them with nearly enough delegates instructed or pledged to carry them near the two-thirds vote required to nominate—728.

Seven in the Race.

The seven avowed presidential aspirants are Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio, Gov. Simeon Baldwin of Connecticut, Gov. John E. Burke of North Dakota and Gov. T. R. Marshall of Indiana.

It has been expected by many political observers that during the two weeks preceding the convention some of the candidates might form a coalition, but no such thing has occurred and this fact Mr. Bryan's friends declare augurs well for him. Mr. Bryan will have his opportunity to speak before the convention toward its close and some of the presidential boomers here are plainly nervous as to the effect he might have.

Outside of these the men most talked of are Mr. Bryan, Mayor Gaynor of New York and Gov. John A. Dix of New York. Mr. Bryan frequently in the last few months has declared he was not in any sense a candidate but it is difficult to find a state delegation in which he is not discussed as a possibility.

Gaynor Men Active.

Without one instructed vote in the convention, William J. Gaynor was suddenly thrust into the foremost rank of compromise candidates by the association of more than 1,000 of his admirers who arrived from New York on a special train and put all other dark horses temporarily out of the running.

The New York Gaynor men, re-enforced by the Baltimore Gaynor league, paraded the streets in carriages and motor cars. They had bands and banners, lithographs and buttons and before they reached their hotels all Baltimore knew they had arrived.

Henry S. Thompson, commissioner of water supply in New York opened headquarters for Gaynor in the Emerson hotel.

"We have brought the winner," Thompson said. "Mayor Gaynor has made no campaign, he has not said he is a candidate, and he has not asked any delegate's support, but I am here to say that the mayor will be the leading candidate for the nomination by the time the roll is called. Mayor Gaynor is presented to the delegates by his friends on his public record."

The Gaynor men are confident that the New York delegation, which is united, will cast its 90 votes for the mayor from the start.

NEGLECT CAUSED DROWNINGS

Timbers of Collapsed Excursion Dock Found to be Rotten and Unsupported.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 25.—Sixteen bodies and a list of 14 missing persons were brought here by the medical examiner from the scene of the disaster at Eagle Park, about ten miles below Buffalo, where more than 100 persons were thrown into the Niagara river by the collapse of an excursion dock.

The section of the dock which gave way was about 50 feet in length and 25 feet in width. The medical examiner who examined the wreckage at dawn found that many of the broken planks were rotten and that directly beneath the collapsed portion of the structure there were no supporting piles.

SOLDIERS DESERT IN BUNCHES

Practice March Too Much for Wisconsin Men and 200 Quit the Ranks.

Madison, Wis., June 25.—Two hundred soldiers have deserted the provisional regiment since it started on the trial march from Dubuque, it was said here when 25 deserters were brought into Camp Randall in irons. Some of the runaways went to Fort Sheridan, and other ports to avoid a 200-mile march on foot.

The government has a standing offer of $50 reward for the capture of deserters. On a late train six were brought back from Sparta. All were fined and thrown into the guard house.

The 2,000 soldiers broke camp and resumed the march to Sparta.

Gives Park to Town.

Cottonwood Falls, Kan., June 25.—Oscar Duehn, a well-to-do farmer of this county, has given to the town of Clements, 14 miles west of here, a park. The land comprises several acres of large trees and is one of the most picturesque places on the Cottonwood river.

STUBBS' LAW BARS T. R. FROM BALLOT

Roosevelt's Name Cannot be Placed Before Kansas Voters.

NEW PARTY IS FORMED TOO LATE

Colonel's Electors' Names Can Go on, But With Nothing to Show Who They Favor for President—Dawson Explains Law.

Topeka, June 25.—An effort will be made by some of the Roosevelt leaders to have Roosevelt voted upon at the general election in Kansas this fall as a candidate for president.

John Dawson, attorney general, was asked whether Roosevelt's name could get on the ballot at all. He replied that Roosevelt's name could not get on the ballot, but that electors for him could be put in an independent column, though the law has no provision by which those electors could designate on the ballot whom they favor for president. Mr. Dawson did not express an official opinion, but simply answered questions propounded to him by the newspaper men. He said:

No Party Emblem.

"There will be no trouble in getting Roosevelt's electors on the ballot in the independent column, but neither party name nor party emblem nor names of candidates for president nor vice-president can appear at the top of the column. W. R. Hearst had to confront that dilemma in Kansas and other states four years ago. Party names and party emblems go in party columns.

Easy to Organize.

"It is also easy to organize new political parties in Kansas. Any aggregation of voters comprising as much as 2 per cent of the total vote of the state can organize a political party, select their party emblem, choose candidates for president and vice-president and get their official name, party emblem and the names of their candidates for president and vice-president printed on the official ballot, but to get their presidential elector candidates, state candidates and county candidates on the ballot, such new party must be organized at least 120 days before the primary election. That is an iron clad provision of the Stubbs primary election law of Kansas.

Time is Up Wednesday.

"Of course, it is too late for a new party to get on the primary ballot this year, because the primary election takes place on August 6."

Petitions are being circulated in Kansas to nominate under the state primary law a set of ten presidential electors favorable to President Taft. The time for filing these petitions expires Wednesday night. Since the recent convention at Chicago, the Taft men have been afraid the electors favorable to Col. Roosevelt whose petitions already were filed, would not vote for the president, and determined to put an entire new list on the ticket.

NO PLACE ON TICKET FOR DRYS?

Under Kansas Primary Law Prohibitionists May Have No Candidate in Primary.

Topeka, June 25.—It is probable that the Prohibition party will not be able to have any candidate in the primary this year. The Prohibitionists have selected a full ticket, but have not filed the petitions yet. Under the primary law a party that does not cast 1 per cent of the total vote cast in the previous election cannot have a place as a party in the next primary.

At the election two years ago the total vote cast for secretary of state was 312,000 and the Prohibition candidate that got the highest number of votes got less than 3,000 in the entire state. This is less than 1 per cent required by the law. No action can be taken until the Prohibitionists file their nomination petitions, but it is expected that the secretary of state will refuse to file them for the primary.

SPRINGFIELD MAN A FIREBUG?

Arrest for Arson Follows Burning of Home—Third Time in Five Years.

Springfield, Mo., June 25.—Will F. Gouty is under arrest here charged with arson. His home burned to the ground at night after he had aroused his son and had him accompany him to town.

The son informed the police he saw and smelled smoke before he left his home, but that his father made him leave.

According to the son this is the third time they have lost their home by fire in the last five years.

Missouri May Break Record.

Marshall, Mo., June 25.—Judge J. M. Lowe of Kansas City said here that Kansas City will pledge at least 100,000 members to the National Old Trails Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association. G. A. Radford of Marshall, declared that Missouri will give more members and more money to the national highway movement than Kansas.

SOME SCENES AND INCIDENTS

LITTLE TOUCHES OF HUMAN INTEREST AT CONVENTION.

HAD RESPECT FOR GOV. HADLEY

Demonstration for the Missouri Executive Lasted Three Quarters of an Hour—Other Items of Interest.

Rosewater Prompt, But—

Victor Rosewater, who as chairman of the national committee called the convention to order, was only three minutes late in pounding out with his gavel the announcement that the show was about to begin. The Omaha man looked pitifully small and weak, and could not make himself heard ten feet away from the platform. For fifteen minutes confusion reigned, and the chairman was unable to quell it. A little later, when the Roosevelt adherents were making their first fight by seeking to substitute their own temporary roll for that prepared by the national committee, Mr. Rosewater piped feebly until some one shouted, "Speak up, little boy." Then he succumbed to the roar of laughter and let a clerk read his rulings.

It was no easy job keeping the great crowd in order, for while the delegates themselves were mostly grim and tense, apparently imbued with the idea that they were "making history," there were numerous skillfully placed claques in the galleries which interrupted the speakers at frequent intervals.

Hadley Commands Respect.

One man there was who was not subject to ribald interruptions and jeers. That was Governor Hadley of Missouri, the Roosevelt field captain. Whenever he arose he was accorded respectful attention and often hearty applause, for even his political enemies couldn't think up weak spots in his record with which to taunt him.

"Bill" Flinn, another Roosevelt fighter, was not so fortunate, but he seemed to like the storm that raged about him and did not give an inch until squelched by the gavel. Senator Bradley of Kentucky, too, came in for a share of "boos" and hisses and was stirred to rage by many allusions to the fact that he had voted in favor of Lorimer.

Police Intermittently Active.

Chicago supplied a small army of policemen to assist in keeping order and handling the crowd, and they did their duty nobly, by fits and starts. Despite all precautions, the doorkeepers let in hordes of their friends, who blocked up the aisles. At intervals some commanding officer would open his eyes and there would be a sudden clearing out of the passage ways, accompanied by violent pushings and indignant protests. Some of these intruders wore fake badges, which served until a suddenly efficient policeman discovered the trick and rushed the offenders to the door with a mighty roar.

How the News Went Out.

Never have the arrangements for getting the news of a national convention to the country been excelled. The correspondents were placed on both sides of the speaker's stand at convenient long tables, and in the basement were the extensive quarters of the several telegraph companies and news associations. Messenger boys in a continuous stream gathered up the "copy" and in a minute it was on the wires.

Besides the ordinary working newspaper men on the job, the press section was graced by the presence of a number of famous writers. Among these were Finley P. Dunne ("Dooley"), William Allen White, Elbert Hubbard, George Ade, Percy Hammond, George Fitch, Sam Blythe, Edward J. Clark, John Callan O'Laughlin and, last, but not least, William J. Bryan.

Many Women in Galleries.

It looked as though about half of the spectators in the Coliseum were women, and they added much to the liveliness of the scene by their pretty costumes and their enthusiasm.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who sat beside her husband in rear seats on the aisle, could not contain herself. She was not recognized by more than a dozen persons when she entered the hall.

Women Delegates Cheered.

California's two woman delegates—Mrs. Florence C. Porter of Los Angeles and Mrs. Isabella W. Blaney of Saratoga—cast the first national convention votes ever given to members of their sex by any great political party. They went with the progressives, voting for McGovern, and as each rose to her feet to announce her choice she was cheered by the delegates and the audience.

Wild Demonstration for Hadley.

Hadley was the man of the second day's session—Hadley of Missouri. He had stepped forward to speak in support of Governor Deneen's motion which was designed to prevent the 78 contested delegates voting on their own cases, but before he could utter a word pandemonium broke loose. In a moment every Roosevelt delegate was on his feet shouting "Hadley, Hadley," and even the Taft cohorts could not keep their seats. Then the enthusiasts began to pull up their state standards and march with them, while the galleries leaped to their feet, waving hats and handkerchiefs and papers and howling at the top of their voices. California's golden Teddy Bear led the way, and New Jersey, Missouri and North Carolina followed close behind. West Virginia, Ohio and Oklahoma fell into line, and there was a mighty roar as "Bill" Flinn grabbed Pennsylvania's standard and led his followers past the front of the speaker's stand. Minnesota and Maine now joined the shouting procession, and people all over the hall began to say that if nominations were in order, it would be no trick at all to put the governor of Missouri at the head of the ticket.

Cheers for Bryan.

One of the biggest demonstrations of the convention before the body was called to order was that given to William J. Bryan. As soon as he was recognized there was a rush of delegates and spectators toward him. "Bill Bryan, Bryan, Bryan," was the call that went up. Shaking hands as he walked, Mr. Bryan hurried to an usher and showed him his seat check. Smiling broadly on those who were following him, he hastened to a seat, got out a pencil and paper and began his day's work as a reporter.

DENTIST WAS JOLLY SOUL

But He Had Been Celebrating, as Patient Found Out to His Sorrow.

Otis Harlan, the actor, has been going about with one lip loking like an old rubber overshoe, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times Star. It appears that for some time he had been intermitently bothered by an ache in one of his most safely anchored teeth. "It's an odd thing, though," says Harlan, "that ache used to disappear absolutely every time I walked up the steps of a dentists's office. I'm not pulling any old joke here. It would really go away. Then the dentist would pin back my face and get his right arm to the elbow inside my mouth, and grub around there with a discouraging air. Always he would emerge declaring that he could not find anything wrong with any of my teeth, and advise me to return the next time it worried me."

That happened several times. At last the tooth got to aching for fair. Harlan waited until his face began to swell slightly—enough so he could mark the spot with a cross and be certain of finding it afterward. Then he went into the nearest dentist's office. The dentist was a jolly soul—a very jolly soul. After Mr. Harlan sat down he became convinced that the dentist had probably been celebrating some little thing. He could isolate the scent of curacoa and sauterne and the clover cocktail upon the dentist's breath. Then he had been eating cabbage, too. Harlan told him to hurry. The dentist fastened his forceps on the aching tooth.

"Uh," groaned Harlan. "Hoo! Uh, uh, uh! You've got hold of my lip."

"Thash all right, Mr. Harlan," said the dentist, smiling, vaguely. "Thash all right. Don't you let that worry you, Mr. Harlan. I got hold of the tooth, too."

MURAT SHOWED HIS WISDOM

Waited for Napoleon to Give Him the Hand of His Youngest Sister, Caroline.

"I wish that some of my field marshals had taken the precaution not to marry when they were only sergeants," Napoleon is supposed to have grumbled, when he saw some of the ladies at his court. Murat, the dashing leader of cavalry at Marengo, did not make the mistake of his fellows, and waited for Bonaparte to give him the hand of his youngest sister, Caroline.

"With her he reigned over the Two Sicilies as Joachim I. Wishing to stand well with the queen, the bishop of Tarento gave her a birthday present of one of Simon Vostre's "Books of Hours," printed on vellum in 1498 by Pierre Pigoucher of Paris and containing 21 fine large wood cuts. Recently this relic appeared in the library of the late Louisa Lady Ashburton at Sotheby's and realized £225 (Sabin). It may, therefore, go to America, whither Murat and Caroline's son, Napoleon Achille, went and married a niece of Washington.—London Telegraph.

Test of Friendship.

A member of the board of education who was present at the recent commencement exercises in Sumner Avenue school, says the Newark News, heard James L. Hays relate an incident which defined the word "friend."

It is well known that Mr. Hays includes among his best friends the boys and girls of the schools. His happy faculty for gaining the confidence of the youngsters was responsible for his being within hearing when two juveniles were discussing friendship. Here is one coming citizen's opinion of a friend indeed, as the member of the board heard it:

"Say, Jimmie," said an urchin to his playmate, "tell me what is a friend."

"I think," replied his companion, "that a friend is a feller what knows all about yer, and yet likes yer."

Black Wolves Born in Captivity.

The population of the Columbia gardens zoo was increased by five the other day. A quintet of black wolves were born and Bess, the mother, was the proudest animal at the resort. Black wolves have become a rarity during the last few years.

Bess has a history. Several years ago a hunt was being made for female black wolves. An Indian boy on the Crow reservation caught Bess in a trap in the Big Horn Canyon. An Indian friend in Billings wrote for him to the management of the gardens and received an offer of $50 for the animal. He accepted it. Since that time Bess has shown scruples against race suicide, and black wolves are not uncommon at the gardens.—Anaconda Standard.

Degrees in Horse Trading.

Judge A. A. Adams, of the Indiana appellate court, says the Indianapolis Star, tells a story of a man who was a good horse trader, but through lack of mathematical education was unable to determine his per cent. of profits.

"This man," relates Judge Adams, "made a good trade, and he was anxious to know his real per cent. of profit, so he consulted a school teacher.

"'I bought a horse the other day for $25 and sold him for $175; now, what was my per cent. profit?' he asked the teacher.

"'That,' replied the teacher, 'was not profit; it was larceny.'"

DAILY DEMOCRAT FORUM

(Successor to the Maryville Republican)

VOLUME 3. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, JUNE 25, 1912. No. 19.

OTHER CONVENTIONS

PRESENT IS TWENTY-FIRST OF DEMOCRATIC CONCLAVES.

PARTY IS 108 YEARS OLD

Six Conventions Have Been Held in Baltimore—Jackson First Nominee at Baltimore.

The National Democratic convention which assembled at Baltimore today was the twenty-first event of the kind during the 108 years the party has been in existence, the first six conventions being held in Baltimore. It is regarded as most propitious for Democracy, as five of these conventions nominated candidates that were elected, the exception being in 1848, when Taylor and Fillmore, the Whig ticket, defeated the Democratic nominees. The seventh convention that met at Baltimore nominated Stephen A. Douglass in 1860, and he was defeated by Abraham Lincoln. The convention which met today was the ninth held at Baltimore.

The Democrats first met at Baltimore in 1832, when Jackson and Van Buren were nominated; the second, in May, 1836, nominated Van Buren and R. M. Johnson. Thirty-two states were represented by 690 delegates. This convention was in session three days. The third, May 5 and 6, 1840, re-nominated Van Buren, but made no nomination for vice president, leaving that office to be filled by the senate.

The fourth, May 27-29, 1844, nominated Polk and Dallas. In this convention Van Buren received 146 votes. A resolution was offered declaring him the nominee, but a point of order was made and sustained that this would require a two-thirds vote. An appeal was taken, but after a spirited debate it was withdrawn. On a subsequent ballot, the ninth, a stampede for Polk was made and he was nominated. He was the first "dark horse" of any national convention.

The fifth convention was held May 22-26, 1848, the nominee being Lewis Cass, the first western candidate, and W. O. Butler of Kentucky. The ticket was defeated by Taylor and Fillmore, the Whig candidates. The sixth convention was held June 1-4, 1852, and nominated Pierce and King. Pierce was nominated on a stampede during the forty-ninth ballot.

In 1856 the Democratic party for the first time in its history went west for its convention, meeting in Cincinnati, June 2 to 6. Buchanan and Breckenridge were nominated. Buchanan received the full vote of the convention on the seventeenth ballot. He had received votes in the three previous conventions. In this convention Stephen A. Douglas was first supported for the nomination, receiving thirty-three votes.

The eighth convention, the most memorable in the history of the party, met in Charleston, S. C., on April 23, 1860, and remained in session until May 3. Before it adjourned the delegates from Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and Texas and a part of the delegations from South Carolina, Arkansas and Delaware withdrew. The entire delegation from Georgia withdrew the next day, May 1. On May 2 the remaining delegates balloted for a candidate, without result, Douglas leading with 151 votes. The convention adjourned on May 3 to meet in Baltimore, June 18.

When the convention reassembled, several southern delegations again withdrew. Douglas was declared the nominee. Benjamin Fitzpatrick of Alabama was nominated for vice president, but he declined and Herschel V. Johnson of Mississippi was named. The seceders met in Charleston, S. C., and nominated Breckenridge and Lane. Twenty-one states were represented in whole or in part in this convention. Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, South Carolina, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin were unrepresented.

The ninth Democratic convention was held in Chicago in 1864, McClelland and Pendleton being the ticket. The tenth convention was held in New York, Seymour and Blair being the nominees. The eleventh convention was held in Baltimore and Greeley and Brown were the nominees. The twelfth convention was held in St. Louis, Tilden and Hendricks the ticket. The thirteenth convention was held at Cincinnati in 1880, and nominated Hancock and English. The fourteenth convention met at Chicago in 1884 and named Cleveland and Hendricks. The fifteenth convention met in St. Louis in 1888 and re-nominated Cleveland, Allen G. Thurman being his running mate, the ticket being defeated. The sixteenth convention held in Cleveland in 1892 again nominated Cleveland, with Stevenson as vice president. The seventeenth convention was held in Chicago in 1896, Bryan and Sewall being the nominees. The eighteenth convention met in Kansas City in 1900, Bryan again being the head of the ticket with Adlai Stevenson in second place. Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis were the nominees at St. Louis, and Bryan and Kern in 1908. Who the nominee of the twenty-first convention will be is a matter for the future to determine.

VESPER SERIVCES AT NORMAL.

Informal Assemblages Will Be Held Weekly at Auditorium—Will Play Volley Ball.

Once a week from 7:15 to 8:15 p. m. the students and faculty of the Normal and others who care to come will assemble in the auditorium and hear a talk, music and other exercises for an hour. Next Friday evening Prof. Frank Shepherd, head of the manual training department, will speak on "The What and Why of Manual Training." These vesper hours will be helpful and enjoyable and all are cordially invited to attend.

On one other evening of the week, possibly Tuesday, the students, in groups of fifty, will meet at 7:15 at the volley ball court, just north of the Normal residence, and play volley ball for a half hour, and then take seats on the lawn in front of the veranda, where President Taylor and some other members of the faculty will lead in the discussion of the subject of rural community life and kindred subjects. It is expected to make this a very delightful and profitable hour. On next Thursday all the students from Nos. 1 to 50 are invited to be present from 7:15 to 8:15 p. m.

BRYAN LOSES HIS FIGHT ON THE CHAIRMANSHIP

Kern of Indiana, Named as Bryan's Choice, Withdraws in Favor of Great Commoner

Bryan's Appearance and Speeches are Occasions for Wild Applause--the Galleries are With Parker--Overtures for Harmony Failed

PARKER WON.

Judge Alton B. Parker was elected temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention over W. J. Bryan by a vote of 579 for Parker to 506 for Bryan.

Owing to the great disorder in the hall the convention could not proceed and adjourned until 8 o'clock tonight, when Judge Parker will make his address to the convention.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Baltimore, Md., June 25.—The Democratic national convention was called to order at 12:10 o'clock today by Chairman Norman E. Mack of the national committee. The galleries were half filled and there were a number of empty chairs in sections reserved for delegates.

Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore immediately followed Chairman Mack with prayer. After prayer there were persistent calls for William Jennings Bryan. Bryan and Judge Parker occupied seats together on the speakers' platform.

At 12:55 p. m. W. J. Bryan took the floor to name a temporary chairman. He received quite an ovation, and the wild demonstration lasted five minutes. He presented the name of Senator John W. Kern of Indiana for temporary chairman of the convention. The national committee selected Judge Parker of New York as temporary chairman, and his name was presented to the convention in addition to the name of Kern.

In presenting the name of Kern to the convention, Mr. Bryan made a stinging speech, attacking the national committee for the selection of Judge Parker as temporary chairman. Mr. Bryan insisted that he has acted in the interest of harmony and that the committee was requested to recognize the wishes of two-thirds of the delegates. He defied the national committee and intimates he will refuse to abide by any reactionary platform.

Mr. Bryan further said that the interests that made the Republican convention a farce are at work in this convention at Baltimore. Mr. Bryan defied them, saying that Belmont of New York can't buy the party. This was met with wild cheering from the galleries.

As Mr. Bryan excoriated Belmont and Parker the people in the galleries kept up a persistent cry for Parker, and the sentiment of the audience seemed to be for Parker.

Mr. Bryan concluded his speech at 1:30 o'clock with an impassioned appeal made for the party to be made progressive.

Kern Makes Effort for Harmony.

Senator John W. Kern of Indiana followed W. J. Bryan, and asked Judge Parker of New York from the stand to join with him in agreeing to the selection of either Senator O'Gorman of New York, Senator Culberson of Texas, Mr. Clayton of Alabama, Mr. Preston of Tennessee, Mr. Snively of Indiana or Ex-Governor Folk of Missouri as temporary chairman in an effort to restore harmony.

Judge Parker refuses to respond to the proposition of Kern, but remains in his seat in New York delegation.

Kern Withdraws His Name.

Senator Kern withdraws his name for temporary chairman and nominates W. J. Bryan. The convention received Bryan's name with cheers, and the convention was in wild turmoil as Bryan attempts to speak.

Bryan Accepts.

Mr. Bryan announces acceptance of progressive leadership as a candidate for temporary chairman.

Bell of California concluded his speech seconding the nomination of Parker, and was followed by Congressman Fitzgerald of Brooklyn to second Parker.

Convention in Tumult.

The convention was in a wild tumult, and sergeant-at-arms threatens to clear galleries. Company of police marched into hall to preserve order.

Bryan Takes Stand.

Mr. Bryan took stand in an effort to secure quiet and received wild demonstration. The police are removing delegates and visitors raising disturbances.

Roll Call Ordered.

Chairman Mack ordered a roll call on temporary chairman, meeting with an objection from Mr. Bryan to ruling of Chairman Mack closing nominating and seconding speeches.

Arouses Big Demonstration.

Mr. Johnson of Texas aroused a big Bryan demonstration when he declared the fight is on, and Bryan is on one side and Wall street on the other.

The body was brought to Guilford at 4 o'clock Monday evening. A short prayer and song service was held at the depot by Rev. Stiller of the M. E. church, when the body was taken at once to Weatherman cemetery for burial. Mrs. Moberly was but 15 years old and was married a month ago to her husband.

ATHLETICS BEAT "JEW" WILSON

And Take Lead in Normal League—Ham Pitches Some Game for the Victors.

Standing of the Teams.

	Won.	Lost.	Pr.ct
Athletics	3	2	.600
Giants	2	2	.500
Pirates	2	2	.500
Cubs	2	3	.400

"Dough" Miller's Athletics took the lead in the Normal league Monday afternoon when they easily beat the Cubs 5 to 1. Jew Wilson, who did the tossing for the losers, had an off day and the "Macks" pounded him for six safeties, which ,mixed with some slow fielding, netted the victors their five tallies. However, the Jew fooled eight of the enemy on strikes.

Ham, the lanky Athletic twirler, was all to the good yesterday. He allowed but two safeties and fanned eleven of the opposition. He also aided in the run getting with two clean singles.

Hanna, the Athletic left fielder, certainly has a most unique batting record. That "lugger" has struck out the last thirteen times at bat, and the fans even assert that he hasn't even fouled one in that many attempts. Thirteen being a lucky number, the writer looks for Hanna to get a hit in the very next game the Athletics play.

Wednesday afternoon the Pirates and the Giants will fight it out to see who shall share the basement with the Cubs and who shall help the Athletics hold down the top round.

MRS. WEDDLE DEAD

AGED WOMAN AT SKIDMORE DIED MONDAY NIGHT.

LEAVES SEVEN CHILDREN

For Fifty Years She Had Been a Resident of the County—Funeral Wednesday at Quitman.

Mrs. Annie Weddle, 90 years of age, a pioneer of this county, died at the home of her son, J. W. Weddle, Jr., in Skidmore, Monday night at 11:30 o'clock. JUDGE ENDORSES CLAIRVOYANT BERNAY

The Well Known Life Reader Who is Now in Maryville Has Been Consulted By Many Famous Men and Women.

Not Only Reads Your Life and Prospects Correctly, But Also Teaches Mental Suggestion, Development of Personal Magnetism and Power of Control.

"I believe you to possess remarkable powers of divination. I cannot attempt to explain them, but to me they seem marvelous. You predicted my election and located important documents and have often been of great help to me," writes Superior Judge John B. Plaisted to Mr. Bernay. This is only one of thousands of testimonials Mr. Bernay has in his possession.

Mr. Bernay should not be confounded with those who claim to be infallible, "wizards," fortune tellers, card or hand readers. He is not and does not claim to be infallible. He does not and does not claim to perform miracles. He is an expert Astrologer, a student and master of psychology, and possesses a clairvoyant gift that enables him to absolutely set the most skeptical man or woman to thinking.

WHAT PROF. BERNEY DOES.
Concerning Business Affairs.

He gives dates, facts and figures, reliable and important advice and information on all matters of interest in business transactions, damage suits, divorces, deeds, mortgages, lawsuits, contested wills, life insurance, claims, collections, speculations, adventures, stocks and all financial difficulties. Truly predicts the success or failure of new inventions, patents, pending pension claims, etc.; tells whether you will receive fair dealing with partners. If you care to know what business you shall follow to be successful, where you shall go and whom to avoid; if you intend to make any changes or to start a business, buy or sell property, or, in fact, take any important step, don't fail to consult Bernay. His advice may be the means of saving you thousands of dollars and a great deal of trouble.

Love, Courtship, Marriage.

If affairs of the heart or emotions of love interest you, he gives the exact and truthful revelations of all love affairs, settles lovers' quarrels; enables you to win the esteem and affection of anyone you desire, causes speedy and happy marriages; tells if the one you love is true; also date of marriage; restores lost affection, peace and confidence to lovers and discordant families; gives you the full secret how to control, fascinate and charm the one you love; also those you meet, and how to make a person at a distance think of you.

Mr. Bernay's work is his religion. He believes in it and takes it serious. He invites those seriously inclined men and women who are ready to be helped by him. His charge for consultation is $1.00, and his hours 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Office at the corner of Fourth and Buchanan streets.

FOR MISSOURI'S SCHOOLS.

The Missouri public schools of all grades, the state normal schools and the state university are all interested in a proposed constitutional amendment to levy a special tax of ten cents on the hundred dollars of assessed valuation, the revenue to be for their continuous support.

The proposition is one of the most important in the educational history of the state. At the general election of 1910 the people refused an amendment providing a smaller similar levy for the maintenance of the university alone. The failure of that amendment was partly owing to the overshadowing interest in the prohibition question, and was due partly to a feeling that the common grade schools should not be neglected in favor of the greater school.

There is no reason for the friction now. All the schools, from the top to the bottom of Missouri's educational system, would share in the proceeds of the tax.

And surely a large majority of the voters of Missouri wish to place their school system on a secure basis, permitting progress commensurate with the development of the state in population and in wealth.—Kansas City Star.

T. R. WAS OFFERED THE NOMINATION

Story of Proposition Made by Southern Delegates.

TELLS OF CONVENTION SECRET

Plan Was to Seize Control at Last Moment—Refused to Accept on Terms Offered—New Porty From Ground Up.

Cleveland, O., June 25.—The Republican nomination for president, Col. Roosevelt asserted here, was his for the asking on the day that President Taft was renominated. He declined to accept it, he said, on the terms under which the offer was made.

On his way back to Oyster Bay the ex-president gave a glimpse into the secret history of the last day of the convention, when he says it was a plan to seize control at the last moment by a sudden move, overturn the Taft majority and make Roosevelt the nominee. This is the story as he told it:

Southern Delegates Called.

Early Saturday morning a group of delegates from Southern states arranged a private interview with Col. Roosevelt. They told him they had come to offer him the nomination. They had with them a list of the known Roosevelt delegates, and stated that they were authorized to speak for a block of Taft delegates who were willing to swing over to Roosevelt to avert a rupture in the party. The number of these delegates, they assured Col. Roosevelt, was large enough to nominate him or any other candidate he might name.

One provision was made, Col. Roosevelt continued. It was that he must accept the nomination from the convention as composed, and not insist upon removal of the 78 delegates who, he contended, were fraudulent, before he would recognize any act of the convention.

Refused the Offer.

Col. Roosevelt said he informed these emissaries that if he should be nominated under these conditions he would not accept the nomination. He told them to go to the delegates they represented and bring back to him a pledge signed by 30 delegates, agreeing to combine with the Roosevelt delegates and make the attempt to start all over again to organize the convention and to unseat the 78 contested delegates. The attempt failed. Col. Roosevelt said a considerable number of signatures to the pledge were obtained, but that it had proved impossible to hold a sufficiently large part of the delegates in line for the course of action upon which he insisted to give it the chance of success.

A new party from the ground up is the Roosevelt program. After a series of discussions with his lieutenants before leaving Chicago, in which there were several sharp clashes, Col. Roosevelt decided to cut entirely away from the party with which his whole public career has been identified.

STRIKERS AGAIN FIRED UPON

Trouble at Tube Mills in New York Renewed—Workmen Were Unarmed When Guards Shot.

Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., June 25.—One man is dying and five other persons, including a woman and a boy, lie severely injured in the Dobbs Ferry hospital, victims of renewed hostilities in the strike declared about ten days ago at the plant of the National Conduit & Cable company. The trouble took place after the company announced that it would take back those of the men who wished to resume work at the old wage scale. About 600 accepted the offer and took their places. In the afternoon on their return from lunch they were attacked by a mob. In the guard at the stockade are 50 armed deputies. They fired on the mob, which was driven off. None of the mob members was armed.

Millers Fight Railroads.

Joplin, Mo., June 25—J. Edgar Smith of Washington, special examiner for the interstate commerce commission, listened to evidence brought by the Southwest Missouri Millers' club against the St. Louis & San Francisco, the Missouri Pacific, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroads. The contention was that the railroads have not been supplying adequate transportation facilities to the shippers of grain. The hearing was conducted in the federal court rooms.

ALL PEACE MOVES ARE UNAVAILING

Baltimore Now Certain to See Repetition of Chicago Fight.

PARKER CHOSEN AS CHAIRMAN

Bryan Will Carry Fight to Floor of Convention—Seven Presidential Candidates Already in the Field.

Baltimore, June 25.—It will be a fight between progressives and conservatives in the convention. That much is settled.

The national committee by a vote of 31 to 22 confirmed the sub-committee's selection of Alton B. Parker for temporary chairman. That was the standpat reply to Bryan.

Bryan at once came back with a statement that had weight in every line. He will try to get a Progressive candidate to oppose Parker, but failing in that, will himself become a candidate.

The Clark influence is expected to line up with Parker as the result of a deal with Murphy and Tammany for throwing New York's 90 votes to the speaker.

Bryan Not Surprised.

Mr. Bryan issued this statement after the committee had named Parker as temporary chairman:

"I had expected it. When Mr. Guffey was seated against the protest of the Democrats of Pennsylvania, I learned what I had expected, that a majority of that committee either had no conception of Democracy or was so slavishly under the control of the predatory interests as not to be free to follow their convictions.

"The predatory interests have no politics. They are with the party that serves them. Having enabled a minority of the Republicans to override the will of a majority of Republicans at Chicago, they are now here to enable a minority of the Democrats to overside the majority in this convention.

Harmony Talk Absurd.

"The talk of harmony is too absurd to deserve consideration. I tried to secure harmony by urging several weeks ago that the committee invite Mr. Clark and Mr. Wilson—whose instructed delegates constitute nearly two-thirds of the convention—to agree upon a candidate for the purpose of avoiding friction. They not only failed to do this, but they refused to take the choice of either candidate and, at Mr. Murphy's dictation, forced Mr. Parker's nomination."

The Nebraskan, three times the candidate of his party for the presidency, stood out all day as the dominant figure in the convention. All contingencies of the future, including the nomination of a presidential candidate, seemed to hinge upon what he should do. The impression continued to be more marked that Mr. Bryan might himself be the ultimate presidential nominee. Some of his friends declared that he would be voted for in the convention whether formally placed in nomination or not, and they expressed the belief he would win if the voting should go to a fourth or fifth ballot.

Bryan and Wilson.

If furtherance of their hope of nominating Mr. Bryan, some of his friends, it is said, are bending their energies to prevent a coalition of the Clark and Wilson forces. They are talkink of Bryan and Wilson as a possible ticket, and the suggestion is receiving attention in many quarters.

That the national committee felt the potency of Mr. Bryan's influence became apparent early in the afternoon when a recess was taken to permit a "peace committee" to call upon him. The first move of this committee, composed of National Chairman Norman E. Mack and Vice-Chairman Hall brought Judge Parker and Mr. Bryan together at a conference. It was said that Judge Parker went over many of the points of his "keynote" speech with Mr. Bryan in the hope of convincing him of the progressive note that it would strike.

The effort was unavailing, Mr. Bryan soon left the conference, held at the national committee headquarters, asserting that while the interview was "most pleasant, indeed," he had failed to change his attitude in any way whatever.

A moment after Mr. Bryan had disappeared, Chairman Mack, Judge Parker and Vice-Chairman Hall emerged and announced that the committee would go ahead and approve the selection of Judge Parker, let the fight come as it would.

The convention will get under way with seven avowed presidential candidates in the field, no one of them with nearly enough delegates instructed or pledged to carry them near the two-thirds vote required to nominate—728.

Seven in the Race.

The seven avowed presidential aspirants are Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio, Gov. Simeon Baldwin of Connecticut, Gov. John E. Burke of North Dakota and Gov. T. R. Marshall of Indiana.

It has been expected by many political observers that during the two weeks preceding the convention some of the candidates might form a coalition, but no such thing has occurred and this fact Mr. Bryan's friends declare augurs well for him. Mr. Bryan will have his opportunity to speak before the convention toward its close and some of the presidential boomers here are plainly nervous as to the effect he might have.

Outside of these the men most talked of are Mr. Bryan, Mayor Gaynor of New York and Gov. John A. Dix of New York. Mr. Bryan frequently in the last few months has declared he was not in any sense a candidate but it is difficult to find a state delegation in which he is not discussed as a possibility.

Gaynor Men Active.

Without one instructed vote in the convention, William J. Gaynor was suddenly thrust into the foremost rank of compromise candidates by the association of more than 1,000 of his admirers who arrived from New York on a special train and put all other dark horses temporarily out of the running.

The New York Gaynor men, re-enforced by the Baltimore Gaynor league, paraded the streets in carriages and motor cars. They had bands and banners, lithographs and buttons and before they reached their hotels all Baltimore knew they had arrived.

Henry S. Thompson, commissioner of water supply in New York opened headquarters for Gaynor in the Emerson hotel.

"We have brought the winner," Thompson said. "Mayor Gaynor has made no campaign, he has not said he is a candidate, and he has not asked any delegate's support, but I am here to say that the mayor will be the leading candidate for the nomination by the time the roll is called. Mayor Gaynor is presented to the delegates by his friends on his public record."

The Gaynor men are confident that the New York delegation, which is united, will cast its 90 votes for the mayor from the start.

NEGLECT CAUSED DROWNINGS

Timbers of Collapsed Excursion Dock Found to be Rotten and Unsupported.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 25.—Sixteen bodies and a list of 14 missing persons were brought here by the medical examiner from the scene of the disaster at Eagle Park, about ten miles below Buffalo, where more than 100 persons were thrown into the Niagara river by the collapse of an excursion dock.

The section of the dock which gave way was about 50 feet in length and 25 feet in width. The medical examiner who examined the wreckage at dawn found that many of the broken planks were rotten and that directly beneath the collapsed portion of the structure there were no supporting piles.

SOLDIERS DESERT IN BUNCHES

Practice March Too Much for Wisconsin Men and 200 Quit the Ranks.

Madison, Wis., June 25.—Two hundred soldiers have deserted the provisional regiment since it started on the trial march from Dubuque, it was said here when 25 deserters were brought into Camp Randall in irons. Some of the runaways went to Fort Sheridan, and other ports to avoid a 200-mile march on foot.

The government has a standing offer of $50 reward for the capture of deserters. On a late train six were brought back from Sparta. All were fined and thrown into the guard house.

The 2,000 soldiers broke camp and resumed the march to Sparta.

Gives Park to Town.

Cottonwood Falls, Kan., June 25.—Oscar Duehn, a well-to-do farmer of this county, has given to the town of Clements, 14 miles west of here, a park. The land comprises several acres of large trees and is one of the most picturesque places on the Cottonwood river.

STUBBS' LAW BARS T. R. FROM BALLOT

Roosevelt's Name Cannot be Placed Before Kansas Voters.

NEW PARTY IS FORMED TOO LATE

Colonel's Electors' Names Can Go on, But With Nothing to Show Who They Favor for President—Dawson Explains Law.

Topeka, June 25.—An effort will be made by some of the Roosevelt leaders to have Roosevelt voted upon at the general election in Kansas this fall as a candidate for president.

John Dawson, attorney general, was asked whether Roosevelt's name could get on the ballot at all. He replied that Roosevelt's name could not get on the ballot, but that electors for him could be put in an independent column, though the law has no provision by which those electors could designate on the ballot whom they favor for president. Mr. Dawson did not express an official opinion, but simply answered questions propounded to him by the newspaper men. He said:

No Party Emblem.

"There will be no trouble in getting Roosevelt's electors on the ballot in the independent column, but neither party name nor party emblem nor names of candidates for president nor vice-president can appear at the top of the column. W. R. Hearst had to confront that dilemma in Kansas and other states four years ago. Party names and party emblems go in party columns.

Easy to Organize.

"It is also easy to organize new political parties in Kansas. Any aggregation of voters comprising as much as 2 per cent of the total vote of the state can organize a political party, select their party emblem, choose candidates for president and vice-president and get their official name, party emblem and the names of their candidates for president and vice-president printed on the official ballot, but to get their presidential elector candidates, state candidates and county candidates on the ballot, such new party must be organized at least 120 days before the primary election. That is an iron clad provision of the Stubbs primary election law of Kansas.

Time is Up Wednesday.

"Of course, it is too late for a new party to get on the primary ballot this year, because the primary election takes place on August 6."

Petitions are being circulated in Kansas to nominate under the state primary law a set of ten presidential electors favorable to President Taft. The time for filing these petitions expires Wednesday night. Since the recent convention at Chicago, the Taft men have been afraid the electors favorable to Col. Roosevelt whose petitions already were filed, would not vote for the president, and determined to put an entire new list on the ticket.

NO PLACE ON TICKET FOR DRYS?

Under Kansas Primary Law Prohibitionists May Have No Candidate in Primary.

Topeka, June 25.—It is probable that the Prohibition party will not be able to have any candidate in the primary this year. The Prohibitionists have selected a full ticket, but have not filed the petitions yet. Under the primary law a party that does not cast 1 per cent of the total vote cast in the previous election cannot have a place as a party in the next primary.

At the election two years ago the total vote cast for secretary of state was 312,000 and the Prohibition candidate that got the highest number of votes got less than 3,000 in the entire state. This is less than 1 per cent required by the law. No action can be taken until the Prohibitionists file their nomination petitions, but it is expected that the secretary of state will refuse to file them for the primary.

SPRINGFIELD MAN A FIREBUG?

Arrest for Arson Follows Burning of Home—Third Time in Five Years.

Springfield, Mo., June 25.—Will F. Gouty is under arrest here charged with arson. His home burned to the ground at night after he had aroused his son and had him accompany him to town.

The son informed the police he saw and smelled smoke before he left his home, but that his father made him leave.

According to the son this is the third time they have lost their home by fire in the last five years.

Missouri May Break Record.

Marshall, Mo., June 25.—Judge J. M. Lowe of Kansas City said here that Kansas City will pledge at least 100,000 members to the National Old Trails Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association. G. A. Radford of Marshall, declared that Missouri will give more members and more money to the national highway movement than Kansas.

SOME SCENES AND INCIDENTS

LITTLE TOUCHES OF HUMAN INTEREST AT CONVENTION.

HAD RESPECT FOR GOV. HADLEY

Demonstration for the Missouri Executive Lasted Three Quarters of an Hour—Other Items of Interest.

Rosewater Prompt, But—

Victor Rosewater, who as chairman of the national committee called the convention to order, was only three minutes late in pounding out with his gavel the announcement that the show was about to begin. The Omaha man looked pitifully small and weak, and could not make himself heard ten feet away from the platform. For fifteen minutes confusion reigned, and the chairman was unable to quell it. A little later, when the Roosevelt adherents were making their first fight by seeking to substitute their own temporary roll for that prepared by the national committee, Mr. Rosewater piped feebly until some one shouted, "Speak up, little boy." Then he succumbed to the roar of laughter and let a clerk read his rulings.

It was no easy job keeping the great crowd in order, for while the delegates themselves were mostly grim and tense, apparently imbued with the idea that they were "making history," there were numerous skillfully placed claques in the galleries which interrupted the speakers at frequent intervals.

Hadley Commands Respect.

One man there was who was not subject to ribald interruptions and jeers. That was Governor Hadley of Missouri, the Roosevelt field captain. Whenever he arose he was accorded respectful attention and often hearty applause, for even his political enemies couldn't think up weak spots in his record with which to taunt him.

"Bill" Flinn, another Roosevelt fighter, was not so fortunate, but he seemed to like the storm that raged about him and did not give an inch until squelched by the gavel. Senator Bradley of Kentucky, too, came in for a share of "boos" and hisses and was stirred to rage by many allusions to the fact that he had voted in favor of Lorimer.

Police Intermittently Active.

Chicago supplied a small army of policemen to assist in keeping order and handling the crowd, and they did their duty nobly, by fits and starts. Despite all precautions, the doorkeepers let in hordes of their friends, who blocked up the aisles. At intervals some commanding officer would open his eyes and there would be a sudden clearing out of the passage ways, accompanied by violent pushings and indignant protests. Some of these intruders wore fake badges, which served until a suddenly efficient policeman discovered the trick and rushed the offenders to the door with a mighty roar.

Getting the News to the Country.

How the News Went Out.

Never have the arrangements for getting the news of a national convention to the country been excelled. The correspondents were placed on both sides of the speaker's stand at convenient long tables, and in the basement were the extensive quarters of the several telegraph companies and news associations. Messenger boys in a continuous stream gathered up the "copy" and in a minute it was on the wires.

Besides the ordinary working newspaper men on the job, the press section was graced by the presence of a number of famous writers. Among these were Finley P. Dunne ("Dooley"), William Allen White, Elbert Hubbard, George Ade, Percy Hammond, George Fitch, Sam Blythe, Edward J. Clark, John Callan O'Laughlin and, last, but not least, William J. Bryan.

Many Women in Galleries.

It looked as though about half of the spectators in the Coliseum were women, and they added much to the liveliness of the scene by their pretty costumes and their enthusiasm.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who sat beside her husband in rear seats on the aisle, could not contain herself. She was not recognized by more than a dozen persons when she entered the hall.

Women Delegates Cheered.

California's two woman delegates—Mrs. Florence C. Porter of Los Angeles and Mrs. Isabella W. Blaney of Saratoga—cast the first national convention votes ever given to members of their sex by any great political party. They went with the progressives, voting for McGovern, and as each rose to her feet to announce her choice she was cheered by the delegates and the audience.

Wild Demonstration for Hadley.

Hadley was the man of the second day's session—Hadley of Missouri. He had stepped forward to speak in support of Governor Deneen's motion which was designed to prevent the 78 contested delegates voting on their own cases, but before he could utter a word pandemonium broke loose. In a moment every Roosevelt delegate was on his feet shouting "Hadley, Hadley," and even the Taft cohorts could not keep their seats. Then the enthusiasts began to pull up their state standards and march with them, while the galleries leaped to their feet, waving hats and handkerchiefs and papers and howling at the top of their voices. California's golden Teddy Bear led the way, and New Jersey, Missouri and North Carolina followed close behind. West Virginia, Ohio and Oklahoma fell into line, and there was a mighty roar as "Bill" Flinn grabbed Pennsylvania's standard and led his followers past the front of the speaker's stand. Minnesota and Maine now joined the shouting procession, and people all over the hall began to say that if nominations were in order, it would be no trick at all to put the governor of Missouri at the head of the ticket.

Cheers for Bryan.

One of the biggest demonstrations of the convention before the body was called to order was that given to William J. Bryan. As soon as he was recognized there was a rush of delegates and spectators toward him. "Bill Bryan, Bryan, Bryan," was the call that went up. Shaking hands as he walked, Mr. Bryan hurried to an usher and showed him his seat check. Smiling broadly on those who were following him, he hastened to a seat, got out a pencil and paper and began his day's work as a reporter.

DENTIST WAS JOLLY SOUL

But He Had Been Celebrating, as Patient Found Out to His Sorrow.

Otis Harlan, the actor, has been going about with one lip loking like an old rubber overshoe, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times Star. It appears that for some time he had been intermittently bothered by an ache in one of his most safely anchored teeth. "It's an odd thing, though," says Harlan, "that ache used to disappear absolutely every time I walked up the steps of a dentists's office. I'm not pulling any old joke here. It would really go away. Then the dentist would pin back my face and get his right arm to the elbow inside my mouth, and grub around there with a discouraging air. Always he would emerge declaring that he could not find anything wrong with any of my teeth, and advise me to return the next time it worried me."

That happened several times. At last the tooth got to aching for fair. Harlan waited until his face began to swell slightly—enough so he could mark the spot with a cross and be certain of finding it afterward. Then he went into the nearest dentist's office. The dentist was a jolly soul—a very jolly soul. After Mr. Harlan sat down he became convinced that the dentist had probably been celebrating some little thing. He could isolate the scent of curacoa and sauterne and the clover cocktail upon the dentist's breath. Then he had been eating cabbage, too. Harlan told him to hurry. The dentist fastened his forceps on the aching tooth.

"Uh," groaned Harlan. "Hoo! Uh, uh, uh! You've got hold of my lip."

"Thash all right, Mr. Harlan," said the dentist, smiling, vaguely. "Thash all right. Don't you let that worry you, Mr. Harlan. I got hold of the tooth, too."

MURAT SHOWED HIS WISDOM

Waited for Napoleon to Give Him the Hand of His Youngest Sister, Caroline.

"I wish that some of my field marshals had taken the precaution not to marry when they were only sergeants," Napoleon is supposed to have grumbled, when he saw some of the ladies at his court. Murat, the dashing leader of cavalry at Marengo, did not make the mistake of his fellows, and waited for Bonaparte to give him the hand of his youngest sister, Caroline.

"With her he reigned over the Two Sicilies as Joachim I. Wishing to stand well with the queen, the bishop of Tarento gave her a birthday present of one of Simon Vostre's "Books of Hours," printed on vellum in 1498 by Pierre Pigoucher of Paris and containing 21 fine large wood cuts. Recently this relic appeared in the library of the late Louisa Lady Ashburton at Sotheby's and realized £225 (Sabin). It may, therefore, go to America, whither Murat and Caroline's son, Napoleon Achille, went and married a niece of Washington.—London Telegraph.

Test of Friendship.

A member of the board of education who was present at the recent commencement exercises in Sumner Avenue school, says the Newark News, heard James L. Hays relate an incident which defined the word "friend."

It is well known that Mr. Hays includes among his best friends the boys and girls of the schools. His happy faculty for gaining the confidence of the youngsters was responsible for his being within hearing when two juveniles were discussing friendship. Here is one coming citizen's opinion of a friend indeed, as the member of the board heard it:

"Say, Jimmie," said an urchin to his playmate, "tell me what is a friend."

"I think," replied his companion, "that a friend is a feller what knows all about yer, and yet likes yer."

Black Wolves Born in Captivity.

The population of the Columbia gardens zoo was increased by five the other day. A quintet of black wolves were born and Bess, the mother, was the proudest animal at the resort. Black wolves have become a rarity during the last few years.

Bess has a history. Several years ago a hunt was being made for female black wolves. An Indian boy on the Crow reservation caught Bess in a trap in the Big Horn Canyon. An Indian friend in Billings wrote for him to the management of the gardens and received an offer of $50 for the animal. He accepted it. Since that time Bess has shown scruples against race suicide, and black wolves are not uncommon at the gardens.—Anaconda Standard.

Degrees in Horse Trading.

Judge A. A. Adams, of the Indiana appellate court, says the Indianapolis Star, tells a story of a man who was a good horse trader, but through lack of mathematical education was unable to determine his per cent. of profits.

"This man," relates Judge Adams, "made a good trade, and he was anxious to know his real per cent. of profit, so he consulted a school teacher.

"'I bought a horse the other day for $25 and sold him for $175; now, what was my per cent. profit?' he asked the teacher.

"'That,' replied the teacher, 'was not profit; it was larceny.'"
